

Learning Disability Liaison Service

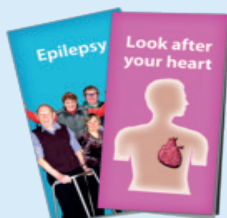

The Learning Disability Liaison Service supports people with Learning Disabilities with their health care needs

We can help you with things like:

Supporting you when you attend health appointments at your GP practice, hospital or epilepsy service

Supporting you and the people who care for you to understand your health or epilepsy care needs

Speak to other health services about any help or support you need to access your health appointments

Deliver training to other health services to ensure you get the support you need with your health care
