

NHS supported non-emergency patient transport

Transport may be available to patients who have a current physical or mental health condition or learning disability such that they require the skill or support of Patient Transport Services staff to leave their home or on the journey or where it would be detrimental to the patient's condition or recovery if they were to travel by other means. For details of the full criteria go to www.devonccg.nhs.uk

How to book

- Patients can make bookings by phone - if possible the patient should make the call, but friends or carers can assist.
- Patients are encouraged to book between 2 weeks and 48 hours ahead of their appointment.
- Patients will be asked a set of questions to assess their eligibility each time they book.
- If appointments are cancelled or changed make sure travel plans are also changed.
- If you wish to appeal against a decision, please ask to speak to the service manager.

Eligible patients can reclaim their travel costs on the day of travel where a cash office is available, by showing proof they are eligible and receipts/tickets, or by post within 3 months of the journey using form HC5(T). You can ask for forms HC1 and HC5(T) at hospitals, other clinics or from the number below.

Making and changing appointments

Set times and dates that suit you. Think ahead if you are going to a venue for the first time and allow some extra time to park or find the correct department. You can ask for appointments at times to suit the transport options which are available to you and to minimise your costs. Staff will try to accommodate you if possible.

Using a taxi

Some taxi companies have wheelchair-accessible vehicles. One fare covers you and your friends/family travelling to support you and it takes you door to door which is often the quickest option. Ask friends, neighbours and community transport for recommendations.

Community transport and volunteer car schemes

These services are available to people unable to access public transport due to where they live or because of physical difficulties. Schemes often use volunteer drivers, provide cars or wheelchair-accessible transport and may be able to give some assistance to passengers from their house to the car and back.

Advance booking is always recommended. They make a charge based on mileage, payment is usually required at the start of the journey and receipts are given so eligible patients can reclaim costs of some journeys. Some schemes also make a booking charge - this will not be refunded.
