How to get to Nuclear Medicine at the Royal Devon & Exeter Hospital (Wonford)

There is high demand for parking spaces at our hospital sites so we recommend, where practical and possible, that patients and visitors use other travel options to get here.

Public transport

The hospital is easily accessible using public transport and other sustainable means of travel.

We are well served by local bus routes from across Devon. A number of services stop at the hospital, whereas others require a connection with a local bus route from Exeter City Centre.

Both the main Exeter train stations, St David's and Exeter Central, are around three miles from the hospital and are served by buses that travel directly to our site.

Walking

The hospital site is around one and a half miles from Exeter City centre and takes approximately 30 minutes on foot.

Bikes

Bike paths run throughout Exeter and the hospital site is easily accessible by bike. Bike parking is available across the site, particularly outside the main hospital entrance.

or follow signposts to the hospital from most of the main routes into Exeter and then follow signposts in the hospital grounds to our car parks. Car parking on site is limited, with a number of paid car parks.

Our patient and visitor car parks are controlled by Automatic Number Plate Recognition cameras (ANPR), which will capture vehicle registrations on entry. You will enter your registration at the car park terminal payment machine when you return to your car at the end of your hospital visit, and pay for the time used. Payment can be made with cash, card or contactless, or via mobile phone app. Please note the payment machines do not give change.

Car registrations are recorded only for the purposes of car park charging, and are used in compliance with Data Protection laws.

Charges are in operation 24/7.

Blue Badge Holders: Simply take your Blue Badge to a reception desk on entering the hospital, and your vehicle registration will be registered for free parking. You will not need to do anything further on leaving the car park.
