What is Patient-Initiated Follow-Up (PIFU)?

Patient-initiated follow-up (PIFU) puts you, the patient, in control of when you are seen by the cardio-respiratory department. It means spending less time attending hospital appointments, but still having access to clinical support when you need it.

If your condition is stable, you may not find it helpful to attend regular outpatient appointments scheduled by the hospital. Sometimes, these appointments may not result in any change to your treatment, but you'll have spent time and energy putting arrangements in place to attend your appointment. Your condition may flare up in between regular booked appointments and it's at this point that you really do need our input. With PIFU, you can get advice from your clinical team, who may suggest an appointment is required.

You initiate the follow-up appointment, instead of the hospital, which is why this process is called patient-initiated follow-up (PIFU).

For all other concerns, or if you are feeling unwell, your GP will remain your first point of contact.

How will I know if I'm suitable for PIFU?

The cardio-respiratory team will tell you if your condition is now suitable for PIFU, instead of regular appointments scheduled by the hospital.

You would have received a home remote monitor or app, this is designed to allow patients with potential cardiac symptoms to be identified quickly and safely from your home. Your clinician will have advised you about the PIFU process and given you this patient leaflet to support you.

When should I call for a PIFU?

You should call if you experience a major symptom, such as a blackout.

PIFU is not a replacement for urgent medical advice. If you require urgent medical advice, you should contact your GP, NHS 111, your local walk-in centre or, if you are really unwell, your local Emergency Department (A&E).

How will I book a patient-initiated appointment?

This is a quick and easy process.

If you have a flare of your symptoms and need advice or an appointment, just follow the steps below and the team will help you.

5 easy steps:

1. Call or email the cardio-respiratory team

PIFU direct tel: 01271 322475 (9am-4pm)

Email: rduh.cardiology-northern@nhs.net

If you need to leave a message when you call, please leave the following information:

- Your full name and date of birth
 - Your hospital number and/or NHS number
 - A telephone number so we can call you back during our opening hours
2. Explain to the cardio-respiratory team you are experiencing major symptoms and need some clinical advice.
 3. The team will review your concerns and decide whether you need immediate clinical advice for your symptoms or if you need an appointment.
 4. If the team think you need an appointment, we will contact you to agree an appointment date and time. In most cases we will arrange an appointment for you within 10 working days.
 5. Attend your clinic appointment.

Will you still be looking after me if I'm on PIFU and don't initiate an appointment?

Yes, you will be continually monitored via the remote service. At a specified date nearing the end of service of your device you will be clinically reviewed by a cardiac physiologist. When the device reaches the end of service (battery runs out), we will refer you for the device to be explanted.

PALS

The Patient Advice and Liaison Service (PALS) ensures that the NHS listens to patients, relatives, carers and friends, answers questions and resolves concerns as quickly as possible. If you have a query or concern call 01271 314090 or email rduh.pals-northern@nhs.net. You can also visit the PALS and Information Centre in person at North Devon District Hospital, Barnstaple.
